The workshop was held from 27th to 29th February 2024 in the department's computer lab, room no. 45 from 9 am to 11 am daily. The Resource Person for the workshop was Ms. Rodemina Bahaudin. Ma'am has worked as Senior Principal Data Scientist in Product & Tech Function at Edgewise Ltd., and is now working as a Freelancer. She gave lectures on "Data Dynamics and Data Preprocessing" for all the students of F.Y.BS.c.IT and S.Y.BS.c.IT. Ma'am has taught students from many colleges and universities and has guided them to explore opportunities and careers in data science and analytics. A total of about 80 students participated in this workshop.

The workshop began with an overview of the importance of data in today's digital age and its significance across various domains and basic concepts such as data types, data sources, and data preprocessing techniques were discussed. Ma'am introduced students to the fundamentals of data analysis and visualization and familiarized students with common data analysis tools and techniques. And provide hands-on experience in working with datasets and interpreting results. The workshop proceeded with a session on data visualization, emphasizing the importance of presenting data in a clear and meaningful manner. Students were introduced to popular visualization tools such as matplotlib, pandas, and numpy. During the workshop, the students were introduced to various data cleaning techniques such as handling missing values, outlier detection, and data imputation and statistical analysis, and create visualizations to extract insights.

It was an outstanding session and much need session according to students. In addition to learning about the data visualization tools, students were exposed to different types of graphs and charts suitable for representing different types of data. They learned how to choose the appropriate visualization method based on the nature of the data and how to interpret the insights derived from visualizations accurately. Ma'am also taught Exploratory Data Analysis Techniques (EDA), wherein students learned how to explore datasets to uncover patterns, trends, and relationship between the variables. A brief introduction to machine learning concepts was provided, covering topics such as classification, and regression, clustering etc. Students gained an understanding of how machine learning algorithms can be applied to analyze and predict outcomes from data. The workshop included case studies and examples illustrating the practical applications of data analysis and machine learning across various industries such as healthcare, finance, and marketing. At the end of the workshop ma'am has explained Microsoft Powerbi tool for creating Dashboard and explained its importance from industrial point of view.

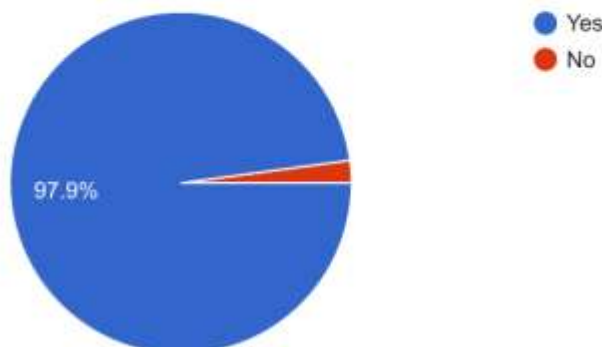

The Data Dynamics Workshop received positive feedback from the participants, who expressed appreciation for the practical approach and hands-on learning experience. Many students found the workshop to be informative and inspiring, sparking their interest in pursuing further studies or careers in data science and analytics. In conclusion, the workshop served as a valuable platform for students to acquire essential skills and knowledge in data analysis and visualization. It not only equipped them with practical tools for handling data but also opened doors to exciting opportunities in the field of data science. Such initiatives play a crucial role in preparing the next generation of professionals to thrive in an increasingly data-driven world.

Report of the Coconut Mocktail and Desert Making Competition

The Department of Botany organized a coconut mocktail and desert-making competition to celebrate World Coconut Day on September 6, 2023, at 10:30 a.m. Coconut is called the "tree of life" due to its diverse uses. The day aims to raise awareness about the coconut's potential for sustainable development and greener production methods. Coconuts are full of vitamins, minerals, and essential fatty acids. They're loaded with energy-boosting carbohydrates and protein, as well as dietary fiber, to keep you feeling full for longer. Out of 23 total participants, 18 participated in desert making, and 5 students prepared mocktails. Ms. Ruby Patel, HOD ID Department, and Ms. Nazneen Momin, HOD Commerce, Commerce Judged the competition. Approximately 150 students and 15 teachers visited the botany department to see the various recipes and mocktails.

Abstract

We were confident that you, being here, was something that you did. "I don't (compare) and I don't think I'm a businessman." No, I don't know you, but you must be good for the time you spent with me, and I don't know of the time.
 We have been in your collection with you and I don't know if you have

The same conditionally self-referencing device could be used to define the term "Deductive system" as "any system that is not a Deductive system." The paradoxical property of such a self-referential statement is that the statement is neither true nor false, but both true and false depending on the context. We could, however, avoid this contradiction by using the term truth instead of is in the above definition.
